

CALL FOR PAPERS

SECOND NYU ECONOMICS ALUMNI CONFERENCE

New York University

Friday May 31st-Saturday June 1st, 2013

Following the success of the first NYU Economics Alumni conference in 2011, we invite you to participate in the second conference in this series which will take place Friday May 31st –Saturday June 1st 2013 at NYU.

We are expanding the scope of the conference compared to the first installment by inviting the alumni from the Stern Economics PhD program as well.

The conference will consist of two full days of academic talks and discussions by NYU Alumni, NYU Faculty and NYU Job Market Students as well as social events. Beyond academic exchange, an objective of the conference is to reinforce the NYU-Econ community, in a broad sense. A conference dinner as well as a more informal dinner will therefore be organized.

The academic part of the conference will feature a number of sessions covering broad research fields where NYU alumni are active. Each session will have papers and discussants. In addition the conference will include 3 plenary talks NYU Faculty.

Plenary Lectures:

Boyan Jovanovic, “Bubbles in Prices of Exhaustible Resources”

Ricardo Lagos, “The Search-Theoretic Approach to Financial Liquidity”

Douglas Gale, “The Future of Financial Regulation”

The organizing committee consists of Yaw Nyarko (as Chair), Alessandro Gavazza (NYU Stern), Ana Maria Santacreu (INSEAD), Ariell Reshef (Virginia), Karl Walentin (Riksbank), Michele Cavallo (FRB) and Sangeeta Pratap (CUNY).

Lunches and the conference dinner will be covered by a grant from the CV Starr Center. Participants should self-finance their trip to NY. Discount hotel rates will be available.
